We are living in an age where time is at a premium while medical emergency can strike anytime. And that is where Doctor Insta's USP of providing qualified medical consultation anywhere, anytime. The consultations are for a really wide range of medical conditions and at Rs. 400 per consultation, it sounds really handy. Co-founded by Amit Munjal, a former investment banker who is also the CEO of this venture, Doctor Insta strives to bridge the gap between doctors and patients through a digital channel pertaining to primary healthcare service. Doctor Insta aims to provide best-in-class telemedicine experience to empower people helping them in leading healthy lifestyles, enhance productivity and reduce infection rate. Anytime Anywhere.

And if you are wondering who are Doctor Insta's physicians and health specialists, then they have a rigorous process to select them as their panelist. As per Doctor Insta, the initial selection of doctors involves an interview with our medical leadership as well as a thorough review of clinical experience, training, licensure and submitted questionnaire. Doctors are then subjected to a MCI (Medical Council of India) verification standard and background screen. After this, the doctors go through telemedicine training, a live interview and mock patient case with medical leadership on the Doctor Insta video platform. The platform also keeps an eye on their performance, knowledge, chair-side manners and quality of care. This takes place in multiple forms including patient and peer ratings. The patient rates each and every visit.
