Google has come up with the second lineage of Pixel devices; Pixel 2 and XL. This is also seen as an attempt by the Google to raise the bar in the premium segment of smartphones mainly dominated by Apple and Samsung across the globe. The Pixel is designed by and is marketed as being a Google product although the company used HTC as a contract manufacturer and recently both the companies had stuck a deal to transfer manpower that was into making Pixel devices. I've got Pixel 2 for the review. So let's check out how it fared on our parameters.
