After making deeper in-roads into the Indian smartphone market with a huge number of products in each price segment, Xiaomi recently came up with its most expensive smartphone in India, the Mi Mix 2. But what makes this phone so special? Haider Ali Khan delves into various aspects of the device. Xiaomi has made deeper in-roads into the Indian smartphone market with huge number of products in each price segment. The company has managed to reach all the sectors of population using smartphones; every now and then you will encounter an individual using Xiaomi phone. The achievement of the company is only because of its variable smartphones price range which gave the company an upper hand to attract the users. The Redmi Note series took the smartphone market by storm and made great sale. Not just the Redmi series other smartphones of the company also managed to attract the users. In this review we will be shading light on the Xiaomi most expensive smartphone in India Mi Mix 2 which ranges between Rs 35,000 to 36,000.
